Welcome to the Royal Academy of Music’s prospectus. Choosing where to study is an important – perhaps even life-changing – decision. In these pages you will get a sense of the unrivalled opportunities that the Academy has to offer, and the many ways in which we help our students realise their potential.

One of the biggest influences on your development as a musician will be your teacher, and at the Academy you will find the very best – their names are listed in the department pages. In addition to artistic creativity and inspiration, our outstanding staff bring with them first-hand knowledge of how to succeed in today’s world.

You will also get to work regularly with renowned visiting professors and guests – distinguished figures who are part of the Academy family – in performances and masterclasses that you will remember for the rest of your life. We are delighted that our commitment to excellence has been recognised with a Gold Rating in the Teaching Excellence Framework 2018 (page 17).

Preparing students for a career in music is our central objective. Alongside the delivery of intensive, high-level artistic training, we also offer professional development support that will teach you how to make the most of your talent in a demanding, ever-expanding industry. The sheer breadth of collaborative opportunities here lay the groundwork for the variety of life as a musician. We measure our success by our impact and influence on the music world – on pages 18, 19 and 23 you can browse the names of a few graduates who, in some cases not long ago, faced the decision you are now making, and for whom coming here was the start of an exceptional journey.

As Britain’s oldest conservatoire the Academy is steeped in tradition, but it is also one of the most progressive conservatoires in the world. Students have access to cutting-edge technology in our beautiful new performance spaces (page 30), our programming is groundbreaking, and in all our disciplines, from classical to musical theatre, jazz and composition, we ask students to explore their musical horizons to the limit.

For you, the most pressing question is probably ‘what will it actually be like to study at the Academy?’ In the pages that follow you will see quotations from students about their experience here, and our website can provide further insight into how your time with us will be spent. If possible, do consider coming to one of our performance events or Open Days to experience our friendly atmosphere in person – we would love to welcome you.

OUR WORLD VIEW

The students and professors of the Royal Academy of Music create a global community

We owe our existence to European culture – our first professors were almost all from the great European nations – and today our students, alumni and faculty are a truly global family. Academy students represent the very best talent from around the world, with approximately half coming from the UK, a quarter from the European Union and a quarter from other countries. This vibrant international mix is fundamental to who we are and how we approach music. When you come here you will build lifelong friendships with people from across the globe.

We encourage the free exchange of ideas across all boundaries, both intellectual and physical. Our fruitful collaborations with The Juilliard School and growing relationships with Sibelius Academy, Shanghai Conservatory, Tokyo Geidai, Glenn Gould School in Toronto and the University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna are based on our shared values of artistic and educational excellence and are integral to the Academy’s identity.

We remain deeply committed to this identity. We will continue to offer the very best education to students from all over the world and will make sure that European students are welcomed as part of the inspiring mix of musicians here.

Our Registry Department will be happy to help with any queries you might have about applying to the Academy from outside the UK. Contact the team on +44 (0)20 7873 7393 or email registry@ram.ac.uk.

We’re a world-leading conservatoire – but don’t just take our word for it. The Academy ranks consistently high in conservatoire league tables.

We are proud to have been awarded a Gold Rating in the Teaching Excellence Framework (TEF), which was created by the UK government to measure the quality of teaching in higher education. We achieved the rating in 2017, and again in 2018. The award is now valid for up to three years. The report states that our students achieve ‘consistently outstanding outcomes’, also specifying that the Academy provides ‘an exceptional range of enrichment activities and external collaborative projects that enhance educational and professional development’.

In the National Student Survey 2017, which is based on detailed feedback from students on a number of aspects of their learning experience, the Academy achieved the highest score of all UK conservatoires in overall student satisfaction.

The Academy was also rated as the top UK conservatoire both in the Guardian University Guide 2018 and the Complete University Guide’s Arts, Drama and Music League Table for 2018.

YOUR FUTURE

Whatever your musical dreams and ambitions, we will help you make them a reality

Maybe you know what you want to do when you graduate; maybe you want to explore as many options as possible before choosing your path. What is certain is that you work hard, love performing and are passionate about music. At the Academy you will immerse yourself in music, graduating with the artistic vision and practical skills you’ll need to succeed.

Our commitment to preparing students for careers at the top of the music profession is why, according to an independent Destinations of Leavers survey published in 2016 by the UK’s Higher Education Statistics Agency, 100% of Academy graduates who responded were either working or undertaking further study six months after graduation.

It’s why our students and graduates win contracts with major international labels including Deutsche Grammophon (Miloš Karadaglić, Max Richter, Sir Karl Jenkins, Daniel Hope), Decca (Benjamin Grosvenor, Martynas Levickis, Trystan Llŷr Griffiths, Sheku Kanneh-Mason) and Sony (Gabriela Montero, Ashley Henry).

Whatever your musical dreams and ambitions, we will help you make them a reality

“This building has been absolutely at the centre of everything that I have done, everything that I have learnt’
Sir Simon Rattle

“The Academy is an environment that not only encourages collaboration and creativity, but also positivity and a love of music making’
Angharad Elin Thomas, bassoon student
Academy teachers are leading professional musicians who combine active performing careers with the challenge of helping young players, singers and composers to achieve their musical ambitions. They share not only their artistic and technical expertise with their students, but also practical advice on how to succeed in the business. There’s plenty of inspiration beyond your one-to-one classes, too. The Academy is made up of a close-knit community in which the friendly, open-minded exchange of ideas is always encouraged.

Our academic staff provide the intellectual background to your instrumental studies, fuelling your curiosity and offering a firm foundation for your musical development.

One-to-one lessons will form the foundation of your musical learning.

‘This institution is so special precisely because of the people who study and teach here. And, in fact, those who study also teach and those who teach also learn’

Semyon Bychkov, conductor
Students are involved in nearly 500 events a year, from intimate solo and chamber performances to orchestral concerts, staged operas, musicals and festivals. Our busy performance schedule provides plenty of opportunities for students to gain ensemble experience and to perform publicly, not only in our own performance spaces but also in world-famous London venues such as the Royal Albert Hall, Royal Festival Hall and Wigmore Hall.

The Academy’s orchestras and ensembles, which include the Symphony Orchestra, Manson Ensemble (contemporary music), String Orchestra, Jazz Big Band, Symphonic Wind and Brass Ensembles, and the Academy Baroque Orchestra and Becket Ensemble (Classical instruments), cover a huge breadth of repertoire.

And you’ll be working with the very best in the business. Regular guest conductors include Semyon Bychkov, Christian Thielemann, Trevor Pinnock, Sir Mark Elder and Edward Gardner. We invite members of the world’s top orchestras to lead sectional rehearsals, and students participate in side-by-side schemes with orchestras including the London Symphony Orchestra, Philharmonia Orchestra, London Sinfonietta and Czech Philharmonic.

Jazz students have performed at the EFG London Jazz Festival, and our Musical Theatre and Royal Academy Opera productions are fully staged and directed by well-known artists at the peak of their careers.

We offer plenty of support to prepare you for a career as a performer. Alongside your individual learning you will take part in practical classes covering topics including stagecraft and how to handle performance anxiety.
PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

It takes more than being a superb performer to make a life in music – you will need to develop many other personal, practical and technical skills. With our resources we can offer you the best chance to succeed in your chosen career.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Our professional development provision is an integral part of your degree course and helps to foster your resilience and self-reliance. We offer individual guidance in tandem with events, lectures and seminars. Practical topics covered include the preparation of industry-standard CVs and promotional material, social media, starting and running ensembles, entrepreneurial skills and strategies for turning your individual skills into a sustainable career. We also hold showcases and industry panel events to help you meet the right people and find the exposure you need early on in your career.

RECORDING FACILITIES

As part of the Susie Sainsbury Theatre and Angela Burgess Recital Hall project (page 30), the Academy has a new production suite at the heart of its audiovisual operation. Each of our performance venues has broadcast-quality microphones and cameras connected to the latest consoles and workstations. Students can use these professional cameras and microphones, free of charge, through an innovative iPad remote-control system. These ‘unattended’ recording sessions are available in all our performance venues during term time.

In addition, students can book ‘attended’ sessions with an engineer for projects involving editing, mixing and post-production. Typically these are held at St Mark’s, a former church building equipped with state-of-the-art recording equipment, 10 minutes’ walk from the main building.

0UR FACILITIES

The Academy’s buildings combine historic elegance with contemporary architecture and cutting-edge technology.

Most of your studies will take place in our striking Edwardian building, which dates from 1911, and a Regency terrace designed by John Nash in the 1820s.

Our main performance spaces are Duke’s Hall, our flagship 350-seat concert venue; the David Josefowitz Recital Hall, which was built in 2001; and the fabulous new Susie Sainsbury Theatre and Angela Burgess Recital Hall, which opened in spring 2018.

STUDENTS ALSO BENEFIT FROM:

• outstanding teaching and practice studios and rehearsal and lecture rooms
• further practice studios in our custom-built suite at Cross Keys Close, a short walk away
• use of nearby St Mark’s Church
• dedicated professional recording services
• a well-equipped library
• our museum, which hosts regular research events and includes on-site instrument workshops
• an excellent canteen serving healthy and affordable meals
• Academy Chimes shop, a convenient source for music, accessories and more

The world-class teaching and the wonderful halls and recording facilities have all helped to make my years at the Academy as productive and valuable as I could have hoped for.

Yehuda Inbar, piano student

The Guardian

Academy groups also have a proud discography dating back 20 years, with our recordings regularly praised in the mainstream press. You will have the chance to be part of this legacy.

The Royal Academy of Music’s teaching is outstanding. So is the value it adds ... it rolls out musicians who are highly employable.”
The Susie Sainsbury Theatre and Angela Burgess Recital Hall opened in early 2018, following one of the most ambitious building and renovation projects in the history of the Academy. The new spaces have won two RIBA awards (London Building of the Year and a National Award) as well as an RICS Tourism and Leisure Award.

The 309-seat theatre and 100-seat rooftop recital hall include professional-standard recording facilities and the very latest in new technologies, ensuring that they will continue to be fit for purpose long into the future. These new spaces, together with 14 refurbished practice and dressing rooms, a large refurbished jazz room, five new percussion studios and a new control suite for the audiovisual recordings department, have significantly enhanced the Academy’s facilities.

NEW SPACES
You will have the opportunity to perform in our state-of-the-art theatre and recital hall.

‘A superbly rebuilt and enlarged theatre, beautifully finished in cherry wood, not unlike Glyndebourne inside and blessed with excellent acoustics’

The Times
Since its foundation in 1822 the Academy has acquired important collections of musical instruments. These include fine stringed instruments by Stradivari and Amati, and others of the French, German and Dutch schools from the Becket and Rutson Collections. In recent years we have been building up the unique Calleva Collection, commissioning stringed instruments from today’s finest luthiers. Students may be offered the use of many of these instruments, providing an important boost to their musical development.

Our museum displays some of these instruments, including historic keyboards by Broadwood, Pleyel and Érard, and the Spencer Collection of lutes and guitars. The Academy also holds important collections of art, scores, performance materials, manuscripts and other objects which belonged to great figures including Yehudi Menuhin, Robert Spencer, Harriet Cohen, David Munrow and Henry Wood. These extensive archives offer students, staff and members of the public unique insights into the creative processes of great musicians, as well as informing our knowledge of performance practice.

There is a practice space in the gallery, giving students an opportunity to rehearse with an informal audience, try out new repertoire and interact with visitors. Classes, seminars and events also often take place in the galleries, which adds a different dimension to students’ learning.

Students can also apply to become gallery assistants, which is a paid opportunity designed to fit around their studies.

The library contains over 200,000 items, covering materials for the day-to-day lessons and music making of undergraduate and postgraduate students, and also remarkable collections of performance materials – 16th-century lute books in the Robert Spencer Collection, autograph manuscripts by Purcell, Sullivan, Vaughan Williams, Kenny Wheeler and other leading composers, and marked scores and parts from the collections of Henry Wood, Nadia Boulanger, John Barbirolli, Yehudi Menuhin, Otto Klemperer and Charles Mackerras.

The Orchestral Library has approximately 4,000 sets of parts, constantly augmented with new acquisitions. Important research collections include the libraries of Sir Henry Wood and Otto Klemperer. Students can also apply for access to the University of London Library and the British Library.

Technology plays a vital role in supporting your studies. Our drop-in IT Service Desk will help you set up your email account, connect to wifi and access our range of services. You will be able to get Office 365 for free on your devices and book practice rooms from your phone between classes. We also have a number of computer suites, where you can access the internet, print documents and use specialist music software including Sibelius, which is also available from home.

Among the many wonderful things that the Royal Academy represents is an absolutely necessary combination of tradition on the one hand and striving for the development of new ways on the other.

Daniel Barenboim

"Among the many wonderful things that the Royal Academy represents is an absolutely necessary combination of tradition on the one hand and striving for the development of new ways on the other."
RESILIENCE AND SUPPORT

All aspects of our programmes are designed to develop your ability to thrive in the music profession and sustain your wellbeing through a lifetime in music. We have a strong network of experienced staff to help you through your studies and we dedicate significant resources to this area.

Your Programme Tutor and Principal Study Teacher will be the primary contacts in your studies and your first ports of call for advice and guidance. They are supported by your Head of Department and Head of Programme, and by the Deputy Principals and Principal, all of whom take a close interest in the quality of your experience at the Academy.

We know how vital it is to nurture the person as much as the musician. In each of our programmes regular time is set aside to focus on the practical things that will help you frame your career, from entrepreneurial skills and forging your professional identity to maintaining a healthy, balanced lifestyle and dealing with the pressures that inevitably arise.

SPECIAL SUPPORT

If things get tough it’s important to know where to turn. This may be your teacher or Programme Tutor, but there are also trained counsellors (male and female) whose doors are always open to talk about any aspect of your life and address problems, small or large. They will also be able to refer you to specialist external resources as appropriate.

We believe in a preventative approach to performance-related injury by teaching excellent technique and providing a range of therapeutic disciplines including Alexander Technique, physiotherapy, pilates and yoga. If physical issues arise, we can facilitate access to a broad range of medical specialists through our uniquely close relationship with the charity Help Musicians UK.

Students with an impairment or specific learning difficulty can get practical support – including assistance with funding applications, where relevant – from our Disability Advisor. We also have an Additional Support Tutor, who can arrange specialist tuition and work with you to develop strategies that will help your musical learning.

Our specialist English Language Support Tutors can help all international students improve their communication skills. Some students will be invited to attend an English Language Welcome Week before the start of the academic year. We provide weekly language classes for students who need regular assistance, and a Help Desk for those who require language support for their written work.
Our Students’ Union (SU) is central to all aspects of life at the Academy. Every enrolled student is a member of the SU and can get involved on many levels.

We start the year with Freshers’ Week, with other social highlights including the Christmas Party, the Film Orchestra and the Summer Ball. The bar and canteen areas are ideal locations for our regular jazz jams and soul nights, with pub quizzes and film nights also taking place throughout the year.

We have very active male and female football teams and regular SU yoga sessions. As a constituent college of the University of London we also have access to hundreds of different societies and clubs.

Working alongside the Students’ Union President are four student representatives – an undergraduate rep, a postgraduate rep, a welfare rep and a societies and events rep. Your SU team works together to ensure that students’ voices are represented at all levels of the Academy. The SU President attends all boards and committees to make sure concerns ranging from courses to facilities are heard, and to create the best possible environment for students. Additionally, students have the opportunity to address staff members directly at committees such as the Student-Staff Liaison Committee.

Living and studying in London is an experience unlike any other, and for musicians the opportunities are endless. And there’s plenty going on within the walls of the Academy, too…

The Guardian
'Moving to a new country was daunting, but I needn’t have worried – the atmosphere at the Academy is very friendly and welcoming. I spent Freshers’ Week making friends and getting as much advice as I could from staff and students.'

Lucie Chabard, harpsichord student

London is one of the most vibrant, cosmopolitan, eclectic, exciting, historic and beautiful cities in the world, and the Academy is situated right in its centre. It’s a great place to be a student and an inspiring place to study music. On any day of the week you can hear some of the world’s best soloists, bands, orchestras and singers in venues across the city – many with your student discount. And if you’re looking for creative inspiration of a different kind, there are countless theatres, galleries, clubs, bars, parks and museums to visit. Within walking distance of the Academy are Regent’s Park, Wigmore Hall, Oxford Street, the many theatres of the West End and the diverse bars of Soho. It’s also easy to enjoy the unique offerings of Camden Market and the buzz of the South Bank, a hub of culture and creativity.

It’s for all of these reasons, and more, that London took the top spot in the most recent Student City Rankings by university experts QS (May 2018). The criteria included student experience, job prospects and friendliness to international students. Whatever your passions and interests, in London you will find somewhere to enjoy them and people with whom to share them.
SCHOLARSHIPS AND BURSARIES

In fact, about a third of all scholarship funds awarded by the Academy come from donations. Every effort is made to increase the amount available to students each year.

Entrance Scholarships (except for Gap Year and Year Abroad Programmes) are merit based and are awarded following a live audition in the UK or at one of our overseas audition centres (see page 95).

FINANCIAL HARDSHIP

Our alumni and friends contribute generously each year to provide financial support to students like you.

Every time I attend an opera, Lieder recital or other musical event I feel that my decision [to contribute] was absolutely the right one.

ACCOMMODATION

The sheer size of London can make moving here seem a daunting prospect. We can help you find the right place to live.

Marylebone Flats – 12 self-catered flats leased by the Academy and sublet on a per-room basis to students. They are just five minutes’ walk from the Academy and provide space for 34 students.

University of London Intercollegiate Halls – the largest community of Academy students live together in UoL’s Nutford House, which is within walking distance of the Academy.

University of London Student Homes – these are houses or flats sourced by the University of London from private landlords in areas within 30 minutes of the Academy. They can range in size from four to eight bedrooms, with shared living spaces.

International Students House (ISH) – this charity offers affordable accommodation for students from a variety of universities and institutions. ISH is located on Great Portland Street, very close to the Academy.

There are also other private halls of residence across London, as well as hostels, lodgings, homestays and house shares. Our guides to accommodation are available online at www.ram.ac.uk/accommodation.

All current and future Academy students are eligible for free advice and guidance on private accommodation and house hunting from the University of London Housing Services (ULHS). They have a large database of available accommodation – both whole properties and individual rooms.

Our alumni and friends contribute generously each year to provide financial support to students like you.

The Royal Academy is an institution that is internationally known and recognised as representing the highest values of music and musical society

Daniel Barenboim
The Royal Academy of Music was the first British conservatoire to introduce teaching for the classical accordion. Since it was founded in 1986, the Accordion Department has been a pioneering force, developing new repertoire and producing some of the world’s most successful accordion players.

Our focused, friendly community is led by the Head of Accordion, Owen Murray, himself a celebrated performer, dedicated teacher, recording artist and international soloist with experience in all aspects of accordion performance.

Students and professors work together in a lively and creative environment. As part of your programme you will perform solo repertoire, hone technical skills, form chamber music ensembles and connect to the wider musical world.

The accordion is thoroughly integrated into the life and work of the Academy. Our undergraduate and postgraduate students enjoy countless collaborations with Academy composers and performers of other instruments.

I consider all of my students to be unique, and it is that very uniqueness that I strive to develop. A copy, no matter how good, is worthless; the original is priceless.

Owen Murray, Head of Accordion

The Academy’s Brass Department is one of the premier conservatoire departments in the world, with recent alumni performing in top ensembles and holding principal orchestral positions both in the UK and abroad. We offer individual lessons with our team of distinguished professors and visiting professors, who are active at the highest professional level, an unparalleled range of masterclasses with the many internationally renowned artists who visit regularly, and a rich orchestral and chamber music programme.

As well as receiving the essential musical and technical grounding in the core repertoire, our undergraduate and postgraduate students take advantage of a wide range of performance opportunities. Collaborations with prestigious venues across London, partnerships with orchestras, and competitions – both internal and external – will help you make the most of your time at the Academy and prepare you for a fulfilling career in music.
The Academy’s two-year Choral Conducting Programme is the UK’s longest-established specialist course in conducting for choirs.

The programme covers a wide range of sacred music for both concert and liturgical events, as well as selected secular repertoire. With expertise in conducting, rehearsal and baton technique, choral music, vocal technique and aural skills, our professors will equip you with all the necessary skills for an active and diverse career.

The Academy’s location in the centre of London, at the heart of the British choral tradition, provides an enviable learning environment and enables us to collaborate closely with leading professional, amateur and collegiate choirs.

We offer Principal Study Choral Conducting at postgraduate level only. At undergraduate level it is offered as an optional choir-training class, but not as Principal Study.
Composition at the Academy centres on intensive project-based and highly collaborative degree programmes. Composers have a wide range of opportunities for performance and recording in different creative contexts.

Our undergraduate programme is shaped to give you a strong foundation in compositional technique, whether your interests lie in writing for concert, media and film, staged productions or electronic music.

At postgraduate level our demanding programmes comprise a full schedule of project work, including workshops, performances and recordings of student compositions. Over the last year the Composition Department has staged at least 20 concerts of new works, both inside and outside the Academy.

Both programmes are taught by dedicated teachers and active composers who are engaged in a broad range of compositional activities. Our collaborative environment will allow you to develop your individual style and musical personality.

‘As a regularly performed and commissioned composer, I am acutely aware of the importance of training our students to be able to get work after they leave’

Prof Philip Cashian, Head of Composition
CONDUCTING

The Academy’s postgraduate Conducting Programme is recognised as one of the foremost in the world, with students regularly being coached by leading conductors.

Focusing on a small, high-quality intake, we are able to offer students many opportunities to rehearse and perform in different settings, from two-piano workshops and intimate chamber ensembles to full symphony orchestra. The environment is friendly, collaborative and focused.

The programme begins with technical and rehearsal skills, followed by opportunities to integrate your work into other departments including early music performance, opera, contemporary music, and education and outreach.

We offer a two-year course of Principal Study Conducting at postgraduate level. At undergraduate level you can study conducting either in introductory classes or, if you wish to pursue it to a high level, as an intermediate or advanced elective.

"Working with the students from the Royal Academy of Music is an absolute delight! They are so prepared and passionate."

Marin Alsop
The Academy has established itself as a leading international centre for the study of the classical guitar at undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Our comprehensive curriculum and unique musicological resources help students to reach the highest standards as soloists, ensemble players and teachers. The expertise of the department covers every aspect of guitar performance, from the concert platform to the theatre, ballet, opera house and recording studio, as well as specialisms in the main historical periods.

You will take part in masterclasses, lectures and concerts with distinguished visiting artists, luthiers and composers. The promotion of student compositions for the guitar also forms an integral part of the department’s work.

Academy graduates permeate the current generation of professional historical performance specialists

The Historical Performance Department will foster your musicianship, instrumental technique and unique creativity, as well as developing your understanding of historical performance practice. Our undergraduate and postgraduate students work with world-class professors and study a wide range of repertoire, including other relevant disciplines such as dance and continuo. Recorder players also explore contemporary repertoire and techniques, often working with young composers. Students are encouraged to develop their own ventures in a friendly and collaborative atmosphere.

Performance opportunities range from the major Bach series, the Haydn symphony series, orchestral projects, chamber music, consort playing and many external concerts, providing you with invaluable experience as a professional musician.
Since our Jazz Programme started 30 years ago, we have produced an outstanding array of versatile, creative and employable jazz musicians.

We support students to find their unique creative voice, which will speak equally across performance, improvisation and composition. We do this through full and varied undergraduate and postgraduate programmes that cover many aspects and forms of jazz and its meeting points with other genres.

The Jazz Programme is taught by an outstanding faculty of musicians and teachers whose experience covers the breadth of contemporary jazz practice. We foster an encouraging environment in which to learn and experiment with this extremely broad art form, equipping you with all the skills you'll need as a working musician. Thanks to the scale, focus and personal approach of our training, students get frequent performance opportunities. Our regular ensemble projects and annual Jazz Festival offer students the chance to work intensively with some of the finest jazz players and composers in the world.

The Guardian

Rigorous conservatoire training will give you an in-depth understanding of the profession and equip you with the skills you need to succeed. We provide a direct link to the industry by combining daily class work, project work and one-to-one tuition with opportunities to perform for experts and influencers.

The Musical Theatre Department functions as a theatre company. The schedule is packed with classes, with a typical working week running from 9am to 7pm daily, sometimes including weekend work.

We offer Principal Study in two areas – an MA in Performance (Musical Theatre) and an MA in Musical Direction and Coaching.

2017-18 students and recent alumni have already been cast in productions including Hamilton in the West End, Les Misérables in London and on tour in the UK and US, and the UK tours of Miss Saigon and Beautiful.

Such was the superlative quality of the production, the esteemed reputation of the company, and the ensemble nature of the show, that it was a genuine challenge to single out individuals for praise’

OPERA

Royal Academy Opera (RAO) prepares exceptionally talented opera singers for careers on the world’s most prestigious stages

RAO functions as a small opera company and a bridge to the profession. The two-year postgraduate programme*, which includes unrivalled performance experience, is for advanced singers with the potential and aspiration to succeed as principals at the highest levels. Generous bursaries are available for RAO students.

Our highly focused study environment includes one-to-one tuition, group classes and opera scenes, as well as three fully staged productions per year, which are regularly attended by representatives from opera companies, artist agencies and the national press.

You will work closely with distinguished in-house professors and pre-eminent international visiting artists, and will also benefit from acting and movement classes, language coaching and classes in many other areas of professional development.

*For undergraduate training see Vocal Studies (page 74)

As an undergraduate or postgraduate student in the Organ Department, you will learn with distinguished soloists, holders of prestigious cathedral posts and dedicated teachers.

Programmes for learning the crucial aspects of playing range from solo repertoire in a wide variety of styles to improvisation, harmonium and organology. Frequent performance opportunities are complemented by study trips abroad to play important historic instruments. Many of our organists hold cathedral or church positions that enhance their studies with real-world experience.

The Academy has two dedicated organ teaching and practice rooms with mechanical-action instruments, and daily access to our main teaching instrument, the four-manual classical organ by Rieger in St Marylebone Parish Church. In 2013 a three-manual symphonic organ built by Orgelbau Kuhn was installed in Duke’s Hall, with generous support from Sir Elton John and Ray Cooper. We also own a rare 1763 Neapolitan organ by Michelangelo and Carlo Sanarica, which is housed in nearby St Mark’s Church.

“I am passionate about organists learning to immerse themselves in repertoire beyond the familiar and comfortable, and collaborating with other Academy departments’

Prof David Titterington, Head of Organ
My aim is to encourage young pianists to think creatively, be daring, and create opportunities for themselves.

PIANO

Led by the internationally renowned pianist Joanna MacGregor, the Academy’s innovative Piano Department will help you to find your artistic identity, develop your technique and become a well-rounded 21st-century musician.

Our intelligent, proactive and professional students are given plenty of opportunities to perform publicly. Our professors include celebrated performers, recording artists and festival directors. Visiting professors teach one-to-one lessons and give masterclasses and lectures on a regular basis.

In addition to a substantial programme of core repertoire and chamber music, we also encourage you to curate performances, commission new music and collaborate across artistic boundaries – an approach that lies at the heart of our annual Summer Piano Festival.

We offer two areas of Principal Study for pianists – Piano Solo (undergraduate and postgraduate) and Piano Accompaniment (postgraduate only). Repetiteur study with Royal Academy Opera.

The Strings Department provides a structured framework for undergraduate and postgraduate study, and almost limitless creative scope to establish your niche in the fast-moving career to which you aspire.

Throughout your time at the Academy you will receive intensive training in the crucial disciplines of solo performance, chamber music and orchestral playing. We will nurture your talent and help you to become a versatile, creative and practical musician. Our highly distinguished professors and visiting professors range in age from their 20s to their 90s, encompassing an incredible breadth of knowledge and boasting an unrivalled musical lineage.

Students have access to instruments from the Academy Museum’s extensive collection, from newly minted modern instruments to ‘golden-period’ Stradivari violins.

Our approach is to create grounded, rounded musicians whose progression into the music profession is natural, informed and positive.

The Academy has a worldwide reputation for excellent training in the complex world of percussion playing. Our teachers include principal players with London’s leading orchestras, international soloists and leading session musicians, all of whom are active in music making of the highest standard and understand the priorities of an ever-changing profession.

Your employability is central to our mission – whether you come to us as an undergraduate or a postgraduate, you will develop all the skills you need for your lifelong musical and professional development through a programme that offers a variety of experience across related instruments.

By focusing on a small number of talented students we are able to provide ample resources and dedicated practice spaces, as well as a wide range of performance opportunities and projects – one of the reasons our graduates go on to have rewarding and diverse careers.

‘Our ethos has always been to keep standards high and numbers relatively low. Add to this our incredible line-up of professors and the prospects of high achievement take off’
Neil Percy, Head of Timpani and Percussion
The Academy's Vocal Studies Department attracts talented singers of every voice type from all over the world and has a fine tradition of training students for international careers.

Vocal Studies students are driven, dedicated and versatile, with a reputation for outstanding quality and professionalism. Our singing professors are committed teachers with considerable experience as professional performers and a wide range of industry knowledge and insight.

We offer Principal Study at undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

As a member of our department you will benefit from unrivalled opportunities and one-to-one lesson time. Our comprehensive training includes vocal and performance technique, stagecraft, repertoire, historical performance, new music, audition preparation and language tuition, preparing students for high-level work on stage and in concert. Students and recent graduates have found success in top concert venues, with opera companies in the UK and abroad, and in international competitions.

It says something of the quality of tutoring and mentoring at the Academy that such rounded, fully developed characterisations and vocal maturity are present in singers in their 20's.
As a student in our department you will learn everything you need to know about playing in a professional woodwind section at the highest international standard. Our professors have decades of experience as internationally renowned soloists, seasoned chamber musicians and principal players in London's top orchestras, and have trained some of the finest orchestral players in the UK.

Our undergraduate and postgraduate programmes offer hugely varied opportunities, from one-to-one lessons with world-class soloists to full symphony orchestra concerts, equipping students with the skills they need to enter the music profession.

Students study solo repertoire, hone technical skills, form chamber music ensembles and learn the crucial aspects of playing in a professional orchestral woodwind section. You will be encouraged to perform frequently and helped to establish and promote your own chamber groups.

PROGRAMMES OF STUDY

What makes our programmes special?

Whether you are coming to study on a four-year BMus programme, starting your postgraduate studies on our MA or MMus programmes, pursuing post-Master’s professional training on our Professional Diploma or Advanced Diploma courses, or undertaking an extended research project for a PhD, you will be among like-minded musicians who share your commitment and talent.

PATHS TO SUCCESS
Our curricula offer a finely tuned mix of Principal Study, practical activities, professional development and academic components. Programmes are designed to give you everything you need for a successful career in music, offering enough flexibility to meet the individual aspirations of each student while also covering the realities of being a professional musician.

PROVEN TRACK RECORD
Our emphasis on one-to-one lessons and small-group teaching and our tailored approach to professional development result in one of the best employability records of any British university.

INSPIRING RESOURCES
Our library, collections and museum provide a wide range of excellent, regularly updated resources that support teaching and research and enable young musicians to find their own artistic identity in the context of the musical riches of the past.

IGNITE YOUR CURIOsITY
All our programmes benefit from a vibrant research culture, to which students at all levels contribute. We focus in particular on creative practice, whether through artistic collaboration, the creation of new texts, or the investigation of performance traditions. Artistic and intellectual curiosity are given every opportunity to flourish.

‘With a list of alumni that reads like a Who’s Who of classical music over the last two centuries, there is no doubting that the Royal Academy of Music has successfully retained and developed its status as a centre of excellence’

Classical Music magazine
As an Academy undergraduate you will be challenged and inspired. Our four-year Bachelor of Music (BMus) allows you to tailor your studies to suit your musical interests.

The BMus combines focused study in performance, composition or jazz with academic study. Every aspect is designed to help you realise your full potential and to prepare you for a career in music. BMus Programme Tutors are available to discuss all aspects of your programme of study, including your performance and academic options, your personal wellbeing and how to fit your studies around your busy timetable. With responsibility for both academic and pastoral welfare, tutors work closely with your Head of Department, lecturers and professors to monitor your overall progress.

BMus students’ study programmes can be diverse, but they all share three core elements:

ACADEMIC STUDY
Academic study is essential to your creative, intellectual and professional development. Core modules (Analytical Skills, Aural Skills, Conducting Skills and Performing in Context) reinforce your awareness as a listener, develop your interpretative abilities and extend your knowledge and imagination. Electives encourage you to pursue your individual interests as you prepare for a musical career.

PRINCIPAL STUDY
This is the focal point of your musical development and includes individual lessons as well as a combination of masterclasses, performance classes, chamber music, concerts and everything else you do in your specialism. The focus for performers is to gain experience in public concerts. You will have at least one hour of one-to-one tuition per week in your Principal Study and may also take a Related Study (for example, piccolo for a flautist). You will be assessed during the year through technical testing and chamber music, and at the end of each year by recital examination.

PROFESSIONAL STUDY
A successful career requires more than pure talent. You will need to be able to draw on a whole range of professional and entrepreneurial skills, and recognise and make the most of opportunities when you see them. We offer a wide range of activities, events and modules for you to hone your skills in areas such as studio recording and editing techniques, self-promotion and marketing, writing CVs, making funding applications, understanding the music business and working in arts management. At the end of each year you will submit a portfolio of professional materials, which will help you to prepare for life after the Academy.

You will also have the opportunity to get involved in Open Academy, which has an active programme of Learning and Participation electives and projects (page 90). If you want to develop your teaching skills you can take courses that lead to the award of the Academy’s teaching licence, the LRAM.

ONE-YEAR PROGRAMMES FOR UNDERGRADUATES
We offer several one-year programmes that enable you to study at the Academy as a fully enrolled member of the student body, with access to the Academy’s resources, without taking a course that leads to a degree.

GAP YEAR
Spend a year at the Academy before taking up a full-time undergraduate place at another institution.

ORGAN FOUNDATION
This is for gap-year students preparing for an Oxford organ scholarship, or for those who want to develop organ and choral direction skills before starting formal university or conservatoire training.

EXCHANGE
The Academy has exchange agreements with conservatoires across the world. Exchanges are normally for a full academic year, although shorter placements may be possible.

STUDY ABROAD
This allows non-UK students studying for a music degree elsewhere to benefit from a conservatoire education as part of their degree studies at their ‘home’ institution. The standard placement length is one academic year, but shorter periods are possible (minimum one academic term).

POSTGRADUATES

Postgraduate study is a vital part of the Academy’s musical culture – we have the largest body of postgraduate musicians in the UK. Students work in a uniquely collaborative performance environment that is designed to help talented musicians achieve their ambitions.

We offer a wide range of opportunities, including a broad selection of degrees (page 85) and diplomas and professional development courses (page 87), as well as a thriving research culture (page 88).

The creative buzz that our environment generates is second to none, and our aim is to ensure that you will have significant opportunities to work under the direction of world-leading musicians. We provide individual tutorial supervision for all students, which is unique in the sector, and our vibrant postgraduate community provides excellent networking opportunities.

Whether you want to focus solely on performance, study a specialism or incorporate research into your studies, we offer a variety of highly flexible study programmes to suit your individual interests and career ambitions.

POSTGRADUATE DEGREES

MASTER OF ARTS IN PERFORMANCE OR COMPOSITION (MA)
The Master of Arts in Performance (including orchestral or choral conducting) or Composition is the standard postgraduate programme for students who want to focus on their Principal Study and build their professional skills. The MA is designed to allow maximum flexibility for you to develop your own performance initiatives and form a bridge to a performance career. The MA is normally a two-year programme, but in certain cases students can be allowed to take it in one year.

MASTER OF MUSIC IN PERFORMANCE OR COMPOSITION (MMUS)
The Master of Music in Performance (including orchestral or choral conducting) or Composition has the MA at its core and adds a Master’s project. This is the standard postgraduate programme for composers and is normally a two-year programme, but in certain cases students can take it in one year.

Your final Master’s project can be a concert with commentary, a recording-based project, a dissertation or a combination of these. You will be supported by a team of specialists and we will encourage you to pursue project work that is directly useful to your creative development. A concert based around your own research, compositions or performance interests might include a practical focus on the delivery of the event, or you might pursue more conceptual areas in a substantial written document.

BBC Music
PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMA (PROF DIP)
The Professional Diploma offers you the chance to explore a specialism at postgraduate level in preparation for the next stage of your career development. Applicants normally hold a postgraduate degree in performance or composition, and must include a proposal outlining their specialism and what they hope to achieve.

CPD DIPLOMA IN CREATIVE MUSIC LEADERSHIP
This Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Diploma is an opportunity for professional portfolio career musicians to gain valuable skills, knowledge and experience in creative music leadership. There are opportunities to be part of Open Academy projects (page 90), and you will also be offered project placements with partner organisations. In the final term you will be supported to design, lead and evaluate your own project.

ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN PERFORMANCE (ADV DIP)
The Advanced Diploma in Performance is designed to provide high-level professional performance training within a largely self-directed one-year programme of study. You will be mentored by an Academy professor and receive one-to-one lessons throughout the year. The openness of this structure will allow you to plan and execute a programme of study that is tailored to your individual artistic needs. Applicants for the Advanced Diploma will usually hold a postgraduate degree in performance.

ADVANCED DIPLOMA IN OPERA (ADV DIP)

‘This is a place of sheer joy and exuberance, this is a place of meticulous artistry, where futures are built; this is a place where people come to learn a craft, where talents are passed on from generation to generation … this is a very special place’
Sir Elton John
Pursue your creative and intellectual passions with our MPhil/PhD research degrees in Performance Practice or Composition

RESEARCH

Our research degrees are aimed at performers and composers with highly developed skills and focused career aspirations. You will work with a supervisor and a team of creative staff on a substantial research project. This will normally be driven by your activity as a performer or composer, but will also require critical context and reflection.

The Academy offers a two-year MPhil and a three-year PhD. MPhil students will usually apply to transfer to PhD in their second year of study. For both MPhil and PhD, you will be allocated 30 hours of supervision per year. You may apply for a further year to complete or write up your portfolio or dissertation at a reduced rate.

Supervision hours are divided between academic and practical supervision, as negotiated with the Postgraduate Programmes Board and your supervisor.

THE ART OF COLLABORATION

Beyond our research programmes, the force of creative and collaborative investigation runs through the Academy.

We actively encourage interaction between performers, composers, instrument makers and scholars, and support projects that promote creative and intellectual curiosity in both students and staff. Through this dialogue we aim to re-evaluate and build on our musical traditions and generate new types of creative practice. Such projects include the analysis and application of performance materials and research on instruments, as well as the critical and reflective study of practice itself.

This research culture is underpinned by our rich collection of musical artefacts, including our globally renowned collection of fine stringed instruments, our historic keyboards, our large holdings of composers’ manuscripts and annotated performance materials, and our significant collection of musical iconography (see pages 32 and 33). Many of our research events – including experimental workshops, composer forums, probing interviews with leading figures from the music profession, lecture-recitals, and symposia and colloquia – are also open to the public.

The Academy’s research programme has given me space to experiment with my own projects, while also developing as a composer within a community of thoughtful and creative musicians’

Freya Waley-Cohen, PhD Student

The Academy’s Learning and Participation Department provides vital experience for students in this exciting and expanding area of work. Open Academy works in partnership with leading specialist organisations to bring creative workshops into schools, hospitals, centres for the homeless, care homes and day centres. It reaches around 6,000 people a year, making participation in music more accessible. It also gives our students an opportunity to practise their musicianship and skills away from the concert platform, and the chance to reflect upon the contribution they can make to society.

All undergraduate students can take the Open Academy electives, and postgraduates can explore this field of work as part of their professional portfolio by choosing the Open Academy pathway.

Sam Parratt, Head of Music, King Solomon Academy
‘I knew the Academy was the best place for me to apply, and this past year has exceeded all my expectations’

Merryl Ansah, Musical Theatre student
AUDITIONING

Auditions help us to discover talent and spot potential. Here’s what you need to know.

The audition process is important for detecting talent, but we also want to discover what makes you tick musically, where your ambitions lie and what stage you’ve reached in your musical understanding. It’s not so much about what you already know as what we think you’re capable of achieving, and whether we can help you on that journey.

We are on the lookout for potential Academy students who can demonstrate individuality, determination and personality – not a particular ‘type’.

- Do your research before your audition – browse our website and social media channels, come to an Open Day and talk to our students.
- Approach the audition like a concert – arrive in good time, make sure you have everything you will need (including your instrument and music) and dress comfortably.
- Be prepared – if you’re not ready, it might be better to wait a year.
- Try to enjoy yourself – we want you to do your best.
- Put the audition in perspective. Whatever the outcome, the world is big and the possibilities endless if you have ability and perseverance.

DISABILITY
Candidates are recruited on the basis of their musical abilities and potential and we welcome enquiries and applications from disabled students. See page 35 for more information about the disability and additional learning support services that are in place for Academy students.

WHERE AND WHEN
If you live in Europe, auditions take place in London on dates between 28 November and 14 December 2018, except for Conducting, Choral Conducting, Repetiteur, the Continuing Professional Development Diploma and Research Degrees, auditions and interviews for which begin in January 2019. See www.ram.ac.uk/application-dates for full details.

We recommend that international candidates audition in London, but some Principal Studies can be auditioned in audition centres in North America and in Beijing, Hong Kong, Seoul, Shanghai, Singapore, Sydney, Taipei and Tokyo. You can find the audition requirements for your Principal Study on our website at www.ram.ac.uk/departments

STEPS TO APPLYING

- Come to a concert or masterclass to experience our friendly atmosphere and outstanding music making. We hold over 500 events every year, many of which are free of charge.
- Meet our current students and find out more about studying here at one of our Open Days.
- Take a virtual tour of the Academy at www.ram.ac.uk/about-us/facilities.
- Ask the relevant department or our Registry if you have any questions – email registry@ram.ac.uk or call +44 (0)20 7873 7393.
- Choose the appropriate course using our form at www.ram.ac.uk/study/programmes.
- Apply for most Academy programmes through UCAS Conservatoires. Our UCAS Conservatoires ID is R53. To join the Academy in September 2019, the application deadline for most studies is 6pm on 1 October 2018.
- Please check our website for all application and audition dates.

‘Auditions will always be nerve-racking but I was given such a warm and professional welcome at the Academy, I felt ready to give it my very best shot’
Milo Harper, harp student
TUITION FEES 2019-20

LOANS
UK and EU BMus students can borrow money to help pay for tuition fees and living costs. Postgraduate loans are also available. These are funded by the UK government and administered through the Student Loans Company. The Academy provides means-tested fee waivers for UK/EU students from low-income households.
